

Summer Fun in the Sun – “I Hear the Beaches Calling My Name”

Where art thou, oh you lovely sun?

Isn't that what we all think about during this season? Luckily, summer is just around the corner...

Are you thinking what we are thinking?

Beach vacation!

Let the waves hit your feet and the sand be your seat

Are you looking for a unique place to explore? There are thousands of stunning beaches that are just waiting for you to explore.

1. Honokalani Beach, Maui, Hawaii

Lapis lazuli waters, jet black shore and jungle-like, thick foliage... are you getting the picture? This beach is the only beach in the world that has tiny lava pebbles for sand. Sounds unbelievable right? It's unspoiled, wild Hawaii in its element.

2. El Nido, Palawan, Philippines

Fair warning... this is no ordinary beach! In fact, El Nido is made up of 50 beaches with the purest white sand you have ever seen. It flies under the radar and therefore, offers privacy to tourists.

3. Parrot Cay, Turks and Caicos

Last but not the least... Parrot Cay. This beach is so private that you can only access it through a boat ride. This is the reason why celebrities like Donna Karan and Bruce Willis have bought vacation homes on this 1,000 acre island. The island has just one luxury resort and less than a dozen private villas.
